The Emergent Properties of the Interpersonal Field

- Communication: The exchange of verbal and nonverbal messages that shape the field and influence relationships.
- Emotional Resonance: The capacity to attune to and share emotions within the field, creating a sense of empathy and understanding.
- Power Dynamics: The distribution of influence and control within the field, which can shape the nature of relationships.
- Trauma: The impact of traumatic experiences on the interpersonal field, creating disruptions and challenges in relationships.
